

Objection Handling

Common Objections

“I already have a policy in place.”

“Most people I speak to do. This is about improving your position for the future, not cancelling anything today.”

“I’m happy with my current provider.”

“That’s good to hear. This is just a sense-check to make sure you’re still getting the best value for what you pay.”

“I’m not interested.”

“No problem at all—before I let you go, can I quickly check whether this is even relevant to you?”

“Understood. If we could match your budget or add extra cover at the same price, would that change things?”

“I don’t make decisions over the phone.”

“That’s fair—this wouldn’t be a decision today, just getting the information in front of you.”

“I need to think about it.”

“Of course. What would you need to see or understand to feel comfortable?”

“I want to compare quotes.”

“That makes sense—this gives you a like-for-like quote to compare properly.”

“I don’t have time right now.”

“I’ll be quick—if it’s not relevant in two minutes, I’ll let you go.”

“I’ve had a bad experience before.”

“I’m sorry to hear that. My job here is to be clear upfront so there are no surprises later.”

“I don’t trust cold calls.”

“I understand. That’s why I’m happy to explain who we are, why we’re calling, and give you time to verify us.”

Acknowledge & Align

“Totally understand—most sensible people already have cover. I’m not calling to undo that.”

Reframe the Conversation

“This isn’t about replacing your policy today, it’s about seeing if you can lock in extra value while you’re already protected.”

Create a No-Risk Reason to Continue

“If there was a way to improve your position with zero downside, would you be open to a quick look?”

Introduce a Time-Bound Incentive

“For example, we’re offering 3 years cover for the price of 2, starting when your current policy ends—so you pay nothing extra now.”

Stack a Sweetener

“To make it worthwhile today, we’re also adding a £100 Amazon gift card just for setting it up—no obligation to cancel your existing cover.”

Soft Close

“All we'd do now is reserve the offer. If you don't see the benefit before activation, you walk away. Fair enough to take 2 minutes and check?”
